

The Insect Apocalypse is Here

Insect populations worldwide are in rapid decline.

This is not good news.

Humans cannot survive without insects. They pollinate our food and they're the foundation of the food web WE depend on. Insects are also vital to the decomposition that keeps nutrients cycling, soil healthy, plants growing and ecosystems running.

~ NY Times, 2018

